

West Point

On March 5th, SantosHuman, Inc (SHI) provided demonstrations of key Santos® capabilities relevant to Cadets and their instructor in the Anthropometrics and Biomechanics class at The United States Military Academy, West Point, NY. In addition, SHI gave a presentation to The Academy's Math of Operations Research Colloquium on the optimization-based approach used in the Santos® mathematical models for predicting human behavior.

The demonstrations and presentations were well received and SHI has begun coordinating efforts for a Cadet Project that will use Santos® in the coming academic year.
